Rewald Sentenced To 80-Year Term, Fined $352,000

HONOLULU—Former investment counselor Ronald R. Rewald, convicted of swindling investors out of millions of dollars, was sentenced yesterday to 80 years in prison and fined $352,000, despite his claims that the Central Intelligence Agency put him up to it.

Rewald was convicted last year of fraud, perjury and tax evasion stemming from the 1983 collapse of the investment firm Bishop, Baldwin, Rewald, Dillingham & Wong.

Prosecutors said the firm was a pyramid scheme in which earlier investors were paid out of deposits made by later investors. About 400 investors placed $22 million in the company. Bankruptcy trustees could account for only about $10 million.

Sakharov 'KGB Movies'

■ NEWTON, Mass.—A member of Andrei Sakharov's family said the Soviets apparently have released more misleading "KGB home movies" showing the dissident in good health to counter conflicting statements Sakharov's wife, Yelena Bonner, might make in the United States.

"They're trying to soften the impact [on public opinion] of the hunger strike he held for six months," said Eren Yankelevich, Bonner's son-in-law, of Sakharov's fast to help his wife win permission to seek medical treatment in the West.

Yankelevich said the family has booked a call to Sakharov for Thursday, four days earlier than planned. Bonner, meanwhile, met with a cardiologist at Massachusetts General Hospital. A hospital spokesman said she would undergo tests this week and the doctor, Adolph M. Hutter, would decide Friday what course to take.

The film, obtained by the West German newspaper Bild, apparently was made with a hidden camera and shows Sakharov in good health. Bonner told Yuri Tuvim, a family friend here, that she was unaware that she and Sakharov were being filmed.

"Sakharov goes shopping in Gorky, rides in a taxi, lugs shonchev meeting in Geneva," Bild said in summarizing the tape.

Edwards' Codefendants

■ NEW ORLEANS—U.S. District Court Judge Marcel Livaudais dismissed federal racketeering charges against three of Louisiana Gov. Edwin W. Edwards' seven codefendants, including the governor's nephew, Charles Isbell.

Edwards, his brother Marion, Shreveport businessman Gus Mijalis and their business associates, Ronald Falgout and James Wyllie Jr., still face charges still face charges that they used political clout to obtain state certification for hospital and nursing home projects in which they held interests.

The $10 million deal earned the governor almost $2 million. The defendants contend that they did nothing illegal. Closing arguments began yesterday.

Arms-Conspiracy Arrest

■ NEWARK, N.J.—Three Ghanaian nationals, including one of the country's former finance ministers, were ordered held without bond on charges that they tried to buy missiles and other arms in a bid to overthrow the African nation's government.

Joseph Henry Mensah, 57, and two others were arrested Sunday as they left a meeting with an undercover agent near Newark International Airport. They were charged with conspiracy and violating the Arms Export Act.

Addenda

■ A gunman who seized six hostages at a Philadelphia parochial school, demanding that President Reagan let him run the country, was taken into custody after being overpowered by three of his captives. Police said the three students decided that the gun, a starter pistol loaded with blanks, was not real.

■ A lawyer for subway gunman Bernhard Hugo Goetz said he will petition for dismissal of attempted-murder charges after the first police officer on the scene of the December 1984 shooting told a television reporter that one of the four victims admitted that they intended to rob Goetz.
